Life

Inland Southern California Friday October 27, 2006 3:55 p.m. EDT Welcome, Visitor! Sign In/Become a Customize | MySpecialsDirect | Make T

Search Site Go Home Local news My community Other news Sports Day Classifieds Business Entertainment Your Life Weather Center Tips and tools Archives Columns Message boards Multimedia Obituaries Opinion

About the newspaper Newspaper rate cards The Business Press LaPrensaEnLinea

SoCal Commercial Printing

Special events
Subscribe to the paper

lacksquare Print it | lacksquare Discuss it | lacksquare E-mail it to a friend

Wrapped with care

Scarves for Soldiers sends knitted packages to troops in Middle East

08:56 AM PDT on Friday, October 27, 2006

By JANET ZIMMERMAN The Press-Enterprise

Ann Roberts' plan was simple enough: Knit some scarves for soldiers in the Middle East.

When she had the idea two years ago, Roberts collected 45 handmade scarves, mostly from fellow knitters at her church.

Last year, the drive yielded 195 scarves after word spread to yarn shops and knitting guilds.

This year's tally is already at more than 200, with two weeks left in her Scarves for Soldiers drive.

"It's all these wonderful people that are knitting. I can't get over the outpouring," said Roberts, a Riverside resident.

The project has struck a chord throughout the Inland area and has spread to Orange

Scarves for Soldiers

Donations can be dropped off at the following stores before Nov. 11:

Knit Affair A Yarn Co., 1690 W. Sixth St., Unit O, Corona; 951-738-0076; www.knitaffair.com

Designer Hand Knits, 6850 Brockton Ave., Suite 102, Riverside; 951-275-9711

Knit 'n Stitch, 6730 Brockton Ave., Riverside; 951-684-7632

Closeknit, 3742 Sunnyside Drive, Riverside; 951-275-5300; www.closeknitter.com

Ursula's Yarn Boutique, 2441 N. Tustin

- ▶ Find a Car▶ Find a Dealer
- Sell Your Car

HomeCent

- ▶ Residential
- ▶Rentals
- Apartments

sh( Browse all ac

Shop by keyv Enter Ad Ke

GO!

▶ Place a class

County, where shops and guilds also are pitching in.

Ave., Suite D, Santa Ana; 714-834-1908

Stan Lim / The Press-Enterprise

Ann Roberts, of Riverside, collects more than 230 scarves, made from residents of Plantation on the Lake in Calimesa. Roberts is the founder of Scarves for Soldiers and plans to ship them to Iraq. Roberts will finish collecting donations Nov. 11, Veteran's Day, so the scarves will reach soldiers by Christmas.

Last week,
Roberts
collected scarves from a group at The Plantation on the Lake, a senior community in Calimesa,
where one woman made 88 scarves.

Elisabet Jung said the mass production helped her battle loneliness after losing her husband of 49 years. Each scarf took about four hours to make, she said.

"When I was in the mood, I sat down and knit. My hands were busy so it helped me very much through my depression," said Jung, 82, who learned to knit in school while growing up in Germany.

Roberts
will finish collecting donations
Nov. 11,
Veteran's Day, so the scarves will reach soldiers
by Christmas.
Temperatures
in Iraq dip
below freezing
in the winter.

Clara McNiff, a resident of Plantation on the Lake in Calimesa, knits a scarf that will be sent to a soldier.

She urges

knitters to include a tag on scarves they make with their name and address, so soldiers can write them a thank you. Roberts is also hoping for donations of other goodies, including cough drops, shampoo, gum and toothpaste.

The shipments are paid for by Roberts' husband, Fred, who divides them up by the number of soldiers in military units throughout Iraq and Afghanistan.

Stan Lim / The Press-Enterprise

Elisabet Jung, center, teaches Lois Clontz, right, both residents of Plantation on the Lake in Calimesa, how to knit as the residents of the senior complex knit scarves for soldiers serving in Iraq.

AnySoldier.com

He searches for needy soldiers, particularly those who don't otherwise receive mail, through www.AnySoldier.com, a Web site that coordinates letters and care packages for American soldiers in all branches of the military.

Marty and Sue Horn, of La Plata, Md., started the nonprofit group after their son Brian shipped off to the front lines with the 173rd Airborne Brigade at the beginning of the war.

The Horns "poured on the support" after seeing a photo in Stars and Stripes of their son's unit sleeping on the ground, which went on for seven months. Brian Horn asked his parents to send more goodies because so many of his fellow soldiers weren't receiving any mail.

"It's a misconception by the civilian world that most of the troops are taken care of by people at home," said Marty Horn, a 22-year Army veteran who served in Vietnam.

Brian Horn, who did two combat tours plus a stint in Kosovo, Serbia, is out of the Army now and attending college. But the work of Any Soldier.com continues.

"The troops are absolutely amazed at the amount of support they're getting," Marty Horn said. "If the country is supporting them, they will do a better job and have a better chance of coming back alive and it means the world to them."

The aim of AnySoldier.com isn't to re-supply the military, but to improve morale, Marty Horn said. Soldiers post e-mails requesting items they need or want, which range from DVDs, batteries and candy to deodorant, shampoo and razors.

More important than the goodies are the personal messages, Marty Horn said.

"It's the personal thank you that means more than the box," he said.

	More headlines
Wrappe	d with care
TV for b	abies? Hospital stirs feud
The Sce	nery Turns Silver
Hop to i	t! 'Roo meat all the rage
Talking	Heads
More

ARTICLE TOOLS: Print it | Discuss it | E-mail it to a friend

Press-Enterprise Table of Contents

Home page	Comics	Fontana	JobZone	Norco	St
Archives	Commercial Real	Food	Jurupa	Obituaries	St
Banning	Estate	Football	Lake Elsinore	Opinion	Sι
Baseball	Community	Golf	Lakers basketball	Perris	Sι
Beaumont	Corona	The Guide	Legal Guide	Personal Technology	Sι
Business	Coupons	Health	Legal Notices	Politics	Te
Business Wire	Crossword	Highland	Local news	PR Newswire	Te
California news	Dating Center	High School sports	Loma Linda	Real Estate	Te
Calimesa	Desert	Home & Garden	Lotto	Real Estate	Tic
Canyon Lake	Digital Extras	HomeCenter	Menifee	professionals	Tr
Cars.com	Dining Guide	Homes Sold	Message boards	Recreation	Tr
Church directory	Driving/Automotive	Horoscopes	Moreno Valley	Redlands	T√
Classifieds	Eastvale		Motor sports	Religion	W
College Sports	Entertainment		Mountain Communities	Rialto	W
Colton	Epicenter		Movie reviews	Riverside	W
Columns	Family		Multimedia	San Bernardino	W
			Murrieta	Southwest Riverside	Yc
			Music news	County	Yu
			National news	Sports Day
			Newsletters

 $\label{lem:help Center} \textbf{Help Center} \mid \textbf{Contact Us} \mid \textbf{Terms of Service} \mid \textbf{Privacy} \mid \textbf{Site Map} \mid \textbf{About Us}$

© 2006, The Press-Enterprise Company